Delivering Good Governance to the Grassroots

Rakesh Kumar Pal

Since time immemorial, the history of India is replete with sagas of good governance. In fact, the concept of 'Ram Rajya' is the epitome of good governance and is certainly the ultimate ambition of any governance mechanism. Before Independent India came into existence, many monarchs tried to implement it across the length and breadth of their kingdoms. After independence, 'Satyamev Jayate' became the eventual dharma and axiom of any elected government. It was also the dream of Mahatma Gandhi that India aspires for 'Ram Rajya' by pursuing the path of 'Satyamev Jayate.'

Democracy, which is an outcome of good governance, is not a new thing in India. Many ancient ruling classes followed 'Matrisattatmak' (matriarchal) governing patterns where females were accorded crucial ruling positions. There also, the ultimate goal was to provide Good Governance. On the topic of Good Governance or Sushasan, many epic literary compilations have been made, like-'Shanti Parv' of Mahabharata, 'Vidur Niti', 'Arthshashtra' by Chanakya, etc.

In the modern era, qualities intrinsic to the concept of Good Governance were largely found in one of the country's most gifted leaders, who is none other than late Shri Atal Bihari Vajpayee. Since 2014, his birth anniversary (25th December), is celebrated as the Good Governance Day or Sushasan Divas throughout the country. Being one of the most revered leaders, Shri Vajpayee remained Prime Minister of India from 1998-2004, during which he showed exemplary commitment to the principles of Good Governance promoting transparency, accountability, and inclusive development. The Good Governance Day gives us an opportunity to delve in to its significance, to explore its historical perspective and to study its impact on the democratic values to bring about an administrative system that is not just inclusive but also upholds the principles of 'Minimum Government Maximum Governance' (MGMG). It is also one of those days when the spirit of democracy becomes enlivened and the efforts to foster good governance globally gets a boost.

The Good Governance Day also gives us an opportunity to focus on economic reforms, infrastructure development and

UGC's "Professor of Practice" Scheme Bringing Real World Experiences into Classrooms

Dr. Rajesh Kumar

The National Education Policy 2020 has envisioned a number of reformatory measures that aims to revolutionise the higher education scenario in India. The recently unveiled 'Professor of Practice' scheme by University Grants Commission (UGC) is a remarkable initiative that will pave the way for bridging the gap between industry and academia and will reshape higher education in India.

National Education Policy Framework emphasises integration of vocational education with general education in order to strengthen the industry-academia interface in the educational institutions with an aim to provide experiential teaching-learning, training, research and entrepreneurship skills. It will ultimately benefit all the stakeholders, contributing to national development.

Bringing Real-World Expertise to Academic Institutions

The Professor of Practice scheme has the potential to bring real-world expertise to academic institutions, addressing the need for practical knowledge and skills in higher education. The scheme prepares a platform to associate experts from diversified fields such as engineering, science, technology, entrepreneurship, management, chartered accountancy, commerce, social sciences, media, literature, fine arts, civil services, armed forces, legal profession and public administration etc. who have acquired their practice based expertise and skills over the years. Their association with academic institutions may bring transformation in many ways such as experiential teaching-learning, training, job opportunities, research, innovation and entrepreneurship etc.

It is worth mentioning that the role of a strong industry-academia interface contributes immensely to the development of any country. In the Global Innovation Index 2023 published by the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO), India occupies the 40th position out of 132 countries. The report highlights that the countries with strong industry-academia collaboration contribute significantly for the development of a robust innovation ecosystem.

According to The World Economic Forum, 97 million new jobs are expected to be created through the advancement in technology such as Artificial Intelligence, Internet of Learning, Machine Learning and Robotics by 2025. It clearly exhibits that the demand for skilled manpower is going to increase manifold in the coming decades. The focal social welfare. The day is an important cog in the wheel as Good Governance is a fundamental element in the progress of a nation. The celebration of Good Governance Day on the birth anniversary of Late Shri Ataj Bihari Vajpayee not only honours his legacy but also aims to propagate the principles he championed.

Institutionalisation of Good Governance Day

Being the nodal department for fostering administrative reforms in the Government of India, Department of Administrative Reforms & Public Grievances (DARPG) organised this annual event. In 2021, the week-long Sushasan Saptah was focused on the theme of 'Prashasan Gaon ki Ore' (village bound administration) observed from December 20-25 as part of the Amrit Mahotsav of Indian independence.

Another important institute that has been founded with the purpose of imparting the ethos of Good Governance among the Civil Servants is the National Centre for Good Governance (NCGG), with its campuses in New Delhi and Mussoorie. NCGG was established in the year 2014 under the Ministry of Personnel, Public Grievances and Pensions. The NCGG works with the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) to train and foster knowledge exchange and collaboration among Civil Servants from India and other developing countries. The NCGG offers an internship programme that facilitates learning and research in key domains and Capacity Building Programme (CPB) for Good Governance.

One more institute which is working in the field of Good Governance is the Centre for Good Governance (CGG), Hyderabad, which was established in October 2001 by the then Government of Andhra Pradesh in collaboration with the Department for International Development (DFID) and the World Bank to help it achieve the state's goal of Transforming Governance. CGG undertakes action research, provides professional advice, and conducts Change Management programmes for government departments and agencies to enable successful implementation of their reform agenda. CGG works closely with policymakers like Ministers, senior officials, management experts, institutions and other stakeholders, especially citizens towards building people centric governance practices.

Key Activities

2021: In the year 2021, the Sushasan Saptah witnessed a nation-wide campaign for redressal of public grievances and improving service delivery in all Districts, States, and Union Territories of India. Over 700 District Collectors participated in the campaign and visited tehsils and Panchayat Samiti headquarters.

On the occasion, Prime Minsiter Shri Narendra Modi observed "In the Amritkaal of Independence, we are marching ahead rapidly to create a transparent system, efficient process and smooth governance to make development all-round and all-inclusive. The Government is committed to strengthening good governance that is pro-people and proactive governance. Guided by the 'citizen-first' approach, we remain untiring in our efforts to further deepen the outreach of our service delivery mechanisms and make them more effective."

In Delhi, the 2021 edition of the Good Governance Week was observed for five days, focusing on governance reforms in key ministries such as Personnel, Public Grievances and Pensions, External Affairs, and Commerce and Industry. Progress was tracked on a dedicated portal. The Ministry of External Affairs highlighted initiatives like Passport Seva Projects, Vande Bharat mission, and the MADAD Portal. DPIIT conducted a National Workshop on Reducing Compliance Burden, and DOPT organised a workshop on "Mission Karmayogi- the path ahead." DARPG organised a workshop on "Initiatives for Increasing Efficiency in Decision Making in Central Secretariat." Districts across States/UTs engaged in activities like addressing pending public grievances, updating Citizen's Charter, and adopting good governance practices. The Good Governance Index 2021, covering 10 sectors and 58 indicators, was released, reflecting the nation's progress in Governance.

2022: On the occasion of the second Sushasan Saptah (Good Governance Week), Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi said, "Our vision is to expand the service delivery mechanisms and make them more effective. Technology has immense potential to bring government and citizens closer. Today, technology has become a powerful tool to empower citizens as well as a medium to optimise transparency and accountability in day to day functioning. Through various policy interventions, we are strongly marching ahead toward digital empowerment of citizens and digital transformation of institutions. The people have resolved to build a glorious and self-reliant India during Amrit Kaal of next 25 years. The Government's role is to complement the people's resolve by being an enabler in their efforts. Our role is to increase opportunities and remove obstacles from their path."

On December 19, 2022, Dr. Jitendra Singh, Minister of State for Personnel, Public Grievances and Pensions launched the second nationwide campaign, 'Prashasan Gaonki Ore,' with the participation of 2700 officials, including District Collectors, Chief Secretaries, and Senior Officials from States/UTs and Central Ministries/Departments. Emphasising the importance of Good Governance, he highlighted the need for continuous efforts to provide citizens with effective governance, considering the evolving needs and societal and technological changes. On the occasion, an exhibition was also organised at Vigyan Bhavan showcasing the government's pursuit of excellence in institutionalising cleanliness and reducing pendency. This exhibition presented the outcomes of Special Campaign 2.0 conducted in October 2022. District Level Workshops were conducted on December 23, 2022, across all 768 districts of India, focusing on innovations and envisioning India@2047, with strong support from Chief Ministers and LGs who expressed their endorsement through regular messages and tweets.

Good Governance Index

Good Governance Day celebrations is marked by release of the Good Governance Index (GCI)- An Assessment of the State of Governance in States and UT's.

Good Governance is the key component of the economic transformation and with the present government's focus on 'minimum government and maximum governance' the Biannual Index assumes more significance. GGI is a comprehensive and implementable framework to assess the State of Governance across the States and UTs which enables ranking of States/ Districts. The objective of GGI is to create a tool which can be used uniformly across the states to assess impact of various interventions taken up by the Central and State Governments including UTs. Based on the GGI Framework, the Index provides a comparative picture among the States while developing competitive spirit for improvement.

GGI Framework has been kept flexible for improvements/ revisions based on the need. The GGI framework encompasses both qualitative and quantitative aspects of Governance, although for computation of the index, quantitative indicators are factored and a complete framework of qualitative, input and process-based indicators is included in a new chapter introduced in GGI 2020-21. The GGI 2019 encompassed 10 Governance Sectors and 50 Governance Indicators. For GGI 2020-21, same 10 Governance Sectors were retained while Indicators have been revised to 58.

Conclusion

In a democracy, good governance is the soul of the Government. It has been rightly said that there is no such thing as bad governance; there could only be anarchy. Any Governance could turn into bad governance if the activities and manpower directed towards the welfare mechanism of the people lose their impetus and efficacy.

Good Governance is no longer a luxury but necessity. Key aspects like citizen's involvement, institutionalising of good governance, capacity building of the manpower looking after the governance, facets of equity and inclusiveness, zeal to overcome bureaucratic challenges and the capacity to use technology as an enabler are a few characteristics that the government of the day must espouse for taking Good Governance to the grassroots.

UGC's "Professor of Practice" Scheme ...

point of apprehension revolves around the quality of students graduating from educational institutions. Majority of them lack practical exposure and skills and don't meet the needs of industry requirements in today's fast and ever changing information and communication technology scenario. In order to match with the pace of transformation, it is imperative to have a well-connected interface to understand and to meet the requirements of industry and academia.

Industry-Academia Collaboration for Mutual Benefits

Collaboration between industry and academia is fervently endorsed in diverse reports and policy documents issued by both public and private entities. In the global scenario, industries have contributed significantly in the research and development, innovation and entrepreneurship. However, in India, the investment of industry in academic institutions is low. Around 60% of total investment for research and development comes from the government sector.

The Professor of Practice initiative serves as a valuable mechanism for both the industry and academia to realign their priorities and invest in areas that are crucial to ensure seamless integration of skilled manpower to meet the long-standing concerns in workforce requirements.

Teaching, Learning & Course Curriculum: In the swiftly evolving landscape of information and communication technology, it is crucial for both academia and industry to adapt. However, many academic institutions are lagging in updating their teaching methods and curricula to keep pace with the rapidly changing trends in the industry. So when a student steps forward to become a working professional, he has to face several challenges adapting to the dynamic setup. While students strive to eventually catch up with the industry's pace, enhancing academic programmes to align with contemporary industry trends and methods would be more beneficial.

Valuable insights from industry leaders would serve as the linchpin of curricula recalibration.

Training, Placement & Entrepreneurship: Industry has a huge role to play in providing assistance in training, placement and entrepreneurship. It works as a laboratory for practical exposure and at the same time guiding institutions for job and entrepreneurship prospects. Therefore, it is imperative for both industry and academia to prepare a platform for more interactions and collaborations in order to fulfill each other's requirements. In today's scenario, it is essential for the students to interact and get practice-based exposure on a regular basis with the industry. This training will pave the way for their future prospects by providing a job or starting their entrepreneurship. The engagement of experts through the Professor of Practice scheme may promote dialogues at various levels, which will provide a plethora of opportunities to the students, faculty members and industry professionals.

Research & Development: According to the Department of Science and Technology Report 2022-23, the Gross Expenditure on R&D (GERD) in India has increased during the last one decade. It has more than doubled from Rs. 60,196.75 crore in 2010-11 to Rs. 127, 380.96 crore in 2020-21. Significant strides are yet required to align ourselves with the dynamic pace of the global landscape. It is noteworthy that research and development investment from the government sector stands at 60%, while the private sector contributes a modest 36%. This figure pales in comparison to developed economies, where the private sector plays a substantial role in research and development. Collaboration with the private sector, particularly industry, and academic institutions holds the potential for substantial contributions through research, development, and consultancy. Such collaborative platforms can furnish essential resources, funding, and manpower, thereby aiding in the realisation of national goals. In this context, initiatives like the Professor of Practice scheme emerge as pioneering efforts.

Professor of Practice: Aligned with the National Education Policy 2020

The 'Professor of Practice' initiative aligns with the National Education Policy 2020. The policy framework primarily focuses on a flexible but robust system which allows all the stakeholders for holistic development by integrating theory, practice and research in a balanced manner.

One of the basic characteristics of this scheme is that a formal academic qualification is not essentially required for this position, if the experts/ professionals have proven expertise and have contributed remarkably in their profession with at least 15 years of service/experience, preferably at a senior level. Further, these experts are also exempted from the essential requirement of publications and other eligibility criteria, which is essential for becoming a Professor. University Grants Commission has fixed the strength of this position, which should not be more than 10%, at any point of time, of the sanctioned positions in a higher educational institution.

However, their engagement as Professor of Practice will be for a maximum duration of three years, which may be extended by one year in exceptional cases. The total service should not exceed four years under any circumstance. The scheme will not affect the number of sanctioned positions and the recruitment of regular faculty members. It is also to note that the position is not open for those who are associated with teaching profession-serving or retired.

Placing More Premium on Expertise

The Professor of Practice scheme exempts experienced professionals from traditional academic qualifications, which an individual acquires during his academic journey such as undergraduate, postgraduate and doctoral programmes. The scheme emphasises major shifts by valuing professional experience and skills which an individual acquires in industry and society through his contribution over the years. The initiative will attract many experienced and skilled professionals in their respective fields from across the country who have contributed remarkably but couldn't acquire their formal academic qualifications in an academic institution. The scheme integrates skilled and practical experiences into the classroom teaching, which is essentially required in today's scenario.

Duties and Responsibilities

An experienced industry professional may contribute in the same manner in which a Professor contributes for the institution. It primarily includes development and designing of courses and curriculum, delivering lectures as per the policy of academic institutions. They may plan various activities for more and more industry and academia collaborations so that students may benefit through innovation and entrepreneurship related projects. A Professor of Practice may plan and conduct research projects, consultancy services, workshops, seminars, and other training programmes in association with regular faculty members of the concerned higher educational institutions.

Categories of Engagement and Selection Process

Professor of Practice may be engaged in an academic institution in three ways:

1. Funded by Industries: Engaging experienced professionals from industry in academia will benefit both the stakeholders. For this category of engagement/ association, higher educational institutions may collaborate with the industries to support the Professor of Practice position.

2. Funded by Higher Educational Institutions: Higher educational institutions may assess the required gap as per their needs in various fields and engage industry experts working in higher positions accordingly. In this position, the higher education institution will pay the remuneration for this position from their own resources. The nature of engagement shall be Part-time/Full-time and a consolidated amount will be paid, which should be mutually agreed between the institution and the expert.

3. Honorary Basis: Experts fulfilling the eligibility criteria for this position may contribute on an honorary basis by teaching and training in an institution. Such professionals may be engaged on an honorary basis and their services may be utilised for the benefit of the students. The institution will pay the remuneration for this position from their own resources.

Selection Process

The selection process is conducted on nomination basis. The Vice Chancellors/ Directors may invite nominations from eminent experts for this position. The interested professionals from industry and society may send their nominations to the Vice Chancellors/ Directors with a detailed biodata and brief write-up about their potential contributions to the educational institutions. Such nominations will be considered by a selection committee consisting of two senior Professors from higher education institutions and one eminent external member. Based on the recommendations, their engagement may be done after approval of statutory bodies.

WARNING

It has been noticed that some unscrupulous elements are fraudulently inviting applications for various posts in the Intelligence Bureau. Such elements are also alluring the aspirants appearing in various written examinations conducted by IB for providing assistance during the examination and are even issuing fake appointment letters to some of the candidates. The prospective candidates/job aspirants are, therefore, cautioned not to fall prey to the designs of such unscrupulous elements who are trying to dupe the unsuspecting aspirants / candidates for their personal gain. Candidates are advised to apply through the website of MHA only i.e. www.mha.gov.in. There have been several reports in the Social Media wherein some unknown persons claiming to be Ex IB Officers give false assurance to the prospective candidates that they would help them in getting through this Examination by virtue of their long association with the IB. Candidates in their own interest are advised not to fall prey to such false, baseless, misleading and exaggerated claims of these persons as IB do not share any input regarding the content of question papers of any Examination conducted by IB with anyone.

Ensuring Farmer's Welfare, Harvesting Prosperity

India, often referred to as the "land of farmers", has emerged as a key player in global agriculture. Currently holding the title of the world's largest producer of milk, pulses, and jute, India also stands as the second-largest producer of significant crops such as rice, wheat, sugarcane, groundnut, vegetables, fruit, and cotton. The nation's agricultural prowess extends beyond these staples, with India leading in the production of spices, fish, poultry, livestock, and plantation crops.

Despite the challenges posed by climate change, the Economic Survey of 2022-23 reported a remarkable achievement in foodgrain production, reaching an impressive 315.6 million tonnes. This underscores the resilience and adaptability of the Indian agricultural sector in the face of evolving environmental conditions.

The commendable contribution of farmers, exemplified by their unwavering dedication and efforts, have not only ensured the nation's food security but have also positioned it as a powerhouse on the international agricultural stage. As India continues to navigate the path of progress, the agricultural sector remains a cornerstone of its economic strength and global influence.

Recognising their pivotal role in achieving this remarkable milestone, the Indian government officially designated the 23rd of December as Rashtriya Kisan Diwas (National Farmer's Day) in 2001. This coincides with the birth anniversary of Shri Late Chaudhary Charan Singh, the fifth Prime Minister of India, whose visionary leadership ushered in a transformative era for the Indian agricultural sector. Since then, the government has consistently marked this day to honor and appreciate the contributions of farmers, while also focusing on their wellbeing and acknowledging their enduring efforts.

In commemoration of this special day dedicated to the farmers of India, EN Explains highlights key schemes that have played a pivotal role in reshaping the agricultural landscape, placing farmer welfare and prosperity at the forefront.

- Agricultural Infrastructure Fund (AIF): Powered by the vision of an Aatmanirbhar Bharat, Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi launched this scheme in July 2020 to improve post-harvest infrastructure and community farming assets. By providing financial assistance, the scheme helps the beneficiary farmers to build an effective agricultural infrastructure including cold storage, warehousing, packaging, etc. The fund is inclusive of short-term as well as long-term loans that can be availed by farmers, Farmer Producer Organisations (FPOs), agri-entrepreneurs, etc.

EN EXPLAINS

- PM-Kisan: Operational since December 1, 2018, Pradhan Mantri Kisan Samman Nidhi (PM-Kisan) is a central government scheme with 100% funding from the Government of India. It aims to provide income support to small and marginal land-holding farmers by giving them direct cash transfers of Rs. 6000 per year in three equal installments. PM-Kisan aims to provide immediate financial relief to farmers and ensure their economic stability by addressing income uncertainties. It intends to empower farmers and reduce their dependency on informal credit sources.
- PM Fasal Bima Yojana (PMFBY): Launched in the year 2016, this crop insurance scheme strives to equip and support farmers with insurance coverage and financial assistance in case of crop failure due to natural calamities, pests, or diseases. The scheme encapsulates all food crops such as cereals, millets, pulses, oilseeds, etc. It relieves the burden on farmers by subsidising premium rates, which are shared by the state and central governments along with beneficiaries. Furthermore, the insured amount is at par with the rate of the crop lest any damage occurs.
- National Agriculture Market (e-NAM): Launched by the Prime Minister in April 2016, e-NAM is a pan-Indian electronic trading platform, which acts as a bridge between the Agricultural Produce Market Committee and mandis to enable farmers to sell their produce online, aiming to create a transparent unified national market for agricultural commodities. It provides a single platform for farmers to sell their products and help them reach a wider market and reap better prices for their products. The portal further fosters fair price discovery by displaying real-time information on prices, quantities, and transaction details, along with quality testing of the products. The platform does away with intermediaries as it directly connects the farmer to the buyer, making it a seamless experience on both ends.
- Kisan Credit Card (KCC) Scheme: Implemented in 1998, the Kisan Credit Card (KCC) scheme has proven to be a significant stride by the government, aimed at providing farmers with timely and adequate credit to meet their agricultural expenses without falling prey to informal credit sources. The initiative empowers farmers with access to short-term credit at affordable rates to fulfill their agricultural and related financial requirements. The scheme allows the beneficiaries to meet their farming needs such as purchasing seeds, pesticides, fertilizers and any crop cultivation expenses and offers them flexible repayment options at low interest rates, drastically reducing financial burden during the cultivation period. The KCC scheme goes a mile further by insuring the beneficiary against any unforeseen circumstances such as crop failure, accidents or fatality.
- Paramparagat Krishi Vikas Yojana (PKVY): The PKVY scheme was launched in 2015 to promote organic farming, with the pursuit of improving soil health. It encourages farmers to opt for organic farming and provides them end-to-end support, i.e., from production to certification and marketing along with post-harvest support including processing, packing, and marketing. Under the scheme, organic farmers are financially assisted with Rs 50,000 per hectare for three years, out of which 62% of the amount is funded for inputs such as bio-fertilizers, bio-pesticides, organic manure, etc. The farmers under this scheme are encouraged to procure organic certification for their produce to meet the standards of organic farming and enhance its market value.
- Soil Health Card Scheme: Focused on improving soil health, this scheme was launched in 2015. Under this scheme, farmers are issued soil health cards informing them of the nutrient status of their soil and recommending measures to improve the nutritional value and fertility of the soil. From 2017-2019, 11.69 crore soil health cards were distributed to farmers across the country. Static and mobile Soil Testing Labs were also established to support the progress of the scheme. The SHC scheme was merged with Rashtriya Kisan Vikas Yojana cafeteria scheme in 2022 along with other schemes undertaken by the Department of Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare.

All these initiatives aim to enhance the socio-economic standing of farmers, alleviating their financial burdens and providing a safety net against unforeseen circumstances. The well-being of farmers is crucial not only for ensuring food security but also for fostering economic stability, promoting rural development, and fostering social harmony within a nation.
